

DIVERSITY OF INDUSTRY

Various Kinds of Manufacturing Plants Being Operated in the South.

MAKING PORTLAND CEMENT

There are Many Quarries in Virginia Which May be Worth Investigating.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BALTIMORE, Nov. 14.—A week or two ago a million dollar plant to manufacture Portland cement was completed in Georgia, and it is now announced that another million dollar plant to manufacture cement is to be built at Selma, Ala., by Georgia and Boston capitalists, who have paid $40,000 for cement rights on a tract of land not far away. These developments give especial significance to the suggestions made in this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record by Mr. Charles Catlett, a well known engineer of Staunton, Va., that no time could be better than the present for States, railroads and individuals to investigate the extent of natural resources in which they are interested, with especial reference to the ascertaining of the amount of cement material available. Mr. Catlett has already dwelt upon the opportunities of the South in this respect, and says:

"In the section in which the iron has been manufactured the available supplies of high grade limestone have usually been quite freely exploited, while the problem of the cheapness with which large quantities of coal can be secured has not been solved. It not infrequently happens that in such sections there is a good deal of information about quarries attractively located, which have developed to large a percentage of insolubility for fluxing purposes, but which may still prove of interest from a Portland cement standpoint.

WORTH INVESTIGATING.

Such quarries are worth investigating. Deposits of pure limestone are apt to attract most attention. Still, it is thoroughly possible for limestone to contain naturally such a mixture of suitable ingredients as to approach closely a Portland cement mixture, with all the advantage in the way of economy which would come from such a discovery. I should say, therefore, that in a district where the ordinary conditions of transportation and market would make the erection of a Portland cement plant attractive, all the large deposits of highly calcareous or limey rocks and slates which are smooth and uniform in texture would demand consideration as to whether they might not be found to consist of a composition which would make them peculiarly well fitted for such operations."

Cement making is but a phase of the growing diversification of the industry, which is quite marked at Birmingham. One of the latest additions to the activity centering in that district is a plant at Ensley to manufacture roofing materials. The main building of this plant, which is expected to be in operation by January 1st, is 100x150 feet. All the machinery will be driven by electricity, and the raw material will be obtained from near by coke ovens.

COTTON PRODUCT.

The limits of products of the cotton plant as material for industry have by no means been reached, but there is constant progress towards them. Near Abilene, Tex., there is approaching completion a modern plant for the manufacture of the highest grades of cooking, salad and other edible oil, as well as miners' oil from the cotton seed. This plant, which has a capital of $50,000, will also include soap works and a compound lard establishment.

In the same direction is the purpose of a cotton oil mill already operating at Norfolk, Va., to expand its products, by taking the hulls of the cotton seed direct from the oil mill machinery, and putting them through a process whereby they will be ground up and yield hull bran and paper stock. The former will be sold for foreign and domestic cattle feed, and the latter will go into paper. All the machinery has been installed for the grinding, but there is still hesitation about entering upon paper making because of inability to obtain enough water at a reasonable price to operate the plant. The concern, however, has leased two or three mills to work up the fibre into paper, and success has already been had.

NEW CHURCH IN STAUNTON

Rev. J. M. Frost Will Preach Dedictory Sermon at Services to be Held To-day.

DESCRIPTION OF THE EDIFICE

Built of Bright Red Brick and is Trimmed With Light Stone and Slate Roof.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) STAUNTON, Va., November 14.—The new Baptist Church, which has been under construction for the last year, will be dedicated Sunday. Over two years ago the question of building a new church was started during the pastorate of the Rev. W. J. E. Cox, now of Baltimore, Md. A fund for the purpose was gradually accumulated. Over a year ago the members bought a lot at the corner of Main and Church Streets on which to erect their new building, and from that time on the work was pressed with vigor. The Building Committee, composed of J. P. Kice, H. E. Fox, William H. Kable, C. O. Her-ring, Professor C. L. Wilson and R. E. Tyler, who had the honor in charge, have been working diligently the past year. The building is of bright red brick and is trimmed with light stone and has a slate roof. The woodwork is native pine and finished in oil. The seating capacity of the church is nearly seven hundred. The Sunday-school room will seat about four hundred.

The dedication exercises will take place to-morrow at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. M. Frost, corresponding secretary of the Southern Baptist Publication Society, will preach the dedicatory sermon. A special musical programme has been arranged for the occasion.

The Rev. Mr. Frost was at one time pastor of the Baptist Church of this city. The present pastor is Rev. M. L. Wood, who was called here from Newport News in 1895.

Attempts to plant a Baptist Church in this city were made long before it was organized, which was in the year 1834. A Baptist Church was organized here in 1853, and the house of worship used before the new church was erected was built in 1855.

The Circuit Court convened here Tuesday afternoon for the fall term. Judge Letcher presiding. There is a large docket this term. The first day fourteen decrees in chancery, four of which were final, were entered and two damage cases were dismissed.

Hon. Edward Echols has purchased from Mrs. Betty V. Crowder the lot adjoining his new building on the east. Some time ago, while digging the foundation for the Echols building, the workmen undermined the wall of the Crowder building, causing the west wall to fall, wrecking the whole building. Mrs. Crowder at once brought suit against Hon. Edward Echols and against E. W. Stewart, the contractor, for damages, and the purchase by Mr. Echols of the Crowder house winds up the suit. The price paid for the lot was $2,300.

Blue for Tobacco.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WILSON, Va., Nov. 14.—The farmers in this section are much discouraged by the reports from the different tobacco markets. It was thought, up to a short time ago, that the crop would sell well this season, but it is now thought very differently. So far but very little of this year's crop has been stripped and none has been sold. All the prices have been very low.

Tobacco is the only staple crop raised in this section, and it is a great misfortune for the farmers to receive low prices for it.

SOUTHWEST CONVENTION

Interesting Meeting in the Episcopal Church at Fincastle.

FINCATTLE, Va., Nov. 14.—The Convention of Southwest Virginia met in Fincastle, Botetourt county on Monday evening, November 9th. At 7:30 evening prayer was said by Rev. W. H. Milton, of Roanoke, secretary of the Convention, and Rev. W. S. Roberts, of Rocky Mount, of the Episcopal Church, presiding. An address of welcome was delivered by Rev. C. M. Conant, rector of St. Mark's Church, Fincastle. To this the Dean of the Convention, Rev. Mercer P. Logan, D. D., responded in a happy address, which displayed an intimate knowledge of the history of the Convention and of the organization and object of the Convention.

He cited the "Fincastle Resolutions" as the original declaration of independence, and greatly pleased the local students of State history.

On Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock a devotional service was conducted and an address on the "Minister in His Study," by Rev. Dallas Tucker.

At 10 o'clock, morning prayer was said by Rev. A. W. Anson and Rev. R. W. Meade and a forcible sermon preached by Rev. E. C. Brown.

At 10:30 a. m. the Convention proceeded to organization by re-electing the officers of the previous year, namely:

Dean, Rev. M. P. Logan, D. D., of Wytheville; Secretary, Rev. W. H. Milton, of Roanoke; Treasurer, Rev. John J. Lloyd, of Lynchburg.

Reports of special missionary services held by various clergymen during the year were then received, showing much progress and interest in the gospel as presented by the Episcopal Church in the mountain country of Southwest Virginia.

At 7:30 P. M. evening prayer was said by Rev. Frank Meade, and Rev. T. G. Faulkner, and a very clear, earnest, logical sermon preached by Rev. T. S. Russell.

At 9:30 A. M. Wednesday, Rev. Dallas Tucker again conducted devotional services and addressed the Convention on the "Minister on the Street."

At 10:30 A. M. the Convention made its corporate communion, the Dean presiding, assisted by Rev. Dallas Tucker and Rev. T. S. Russell. Rev. R. R. Claiborne preached a thoughtful, helpful sermon.

In the afternoon some important matters were discussed, including the necessity for aggressive work in the great missionary field of the Southwest part of the State.

At 7:30 P. M. evening prayer was said by Rev. C. C. Randolph and Rev. J. M. Robertson, and a powerful sermon in elegant diction preached by Rev. W. H. Milton.

On Thursday morning, as Rev. Dallas Tucker had been called away by a death in his parish, Rev. W. H. Milton conducted the devotional exercises and spoke upon the "Minister in His Church."

At 10:30 A. M. morning prayer was said by Rev. A. W. Anson and Rev. T. G. Faulkner, and Rev. W. H. Brown preached a strong and spiritual sermon on "Faith."

The Convention then proceeded to clear up remaining business and in view of the well-recognized conditions, and of the bishop's attitude and of possible legislation by the Council of the Diocese in the near future as to a bishop's coadjutor, or perhaps even a division of the diocese, a committee was appointed to collect and tabulate statistics of the Convention, as to its strength in membership and financially, its needs, and general status. The report of this committee was ordered to be filed with the Dean inside of two months, to be at hand should the Convention require this information. The Convention then divided. The Dean,
